

PowerGard™ Protection Plan Residential

CONTRACT TRANSFER

As the owner of the PowerGard™ Protection Plan Residential contract, you have options when you sell or trade your machine. The remaining contract coverage can be transferred to the next residential owner, helping to improve your machine's resale value. To transfer the contract, provide your information (below, left side) and when the new machine owner is identified, have them provide their information on the right side of this form. Once completed, submit this form through the website* or to the postal address below. John Deere Dealers may complete the new owner information and send the form as well. For proper compliance, the form must be signed by the original owner and the new owner cannot be a commercial entity such as a dealership. In lieu of transferring your contract, you can opt to cancel the coverage and receive a prorated refund. For more details refer to the Terms and Conditions of the PowerGard™ Protection Plan Residential contract.
